University of Arkansas

Launch is a program for students between the ages of 18 and 25 who want a college experience. They are able to experience many social aspects of the University of Arkansas such as having class on campus, using the gym on campus, eating at the Union and Commons, having University Mentors and Internships. The classes that the students take are focused on continuing education (math, reading, writing, etc.) and independent living skills (budgeting, career exploration, social skills, healthy living, etc). It is not fully affiliated with the University of Arkansas; partnerships between departments exist. For additional information, please contact the Program Director.

During class time, we often have interns and volunteers who work with the Launch students on academics. Outside of class time, we have peer mentors who do "what typical college students do." They are encouraged to seek out similar interests, so often can be found at local coffee shops, as exercise partners, or hanging out at a sorority house. Students often join campus ministries, or find a Registered Student Organization that might fit their hobbies or interests. As part of our curriculum, we look into what is happening on-campus and in the community so that students can become more engaged, so often they are participating in events sponsored by "University Programs." These can be anything from an outdoor movie, a heritage festival, an improv group, a free concert, pep rallies and more.
